Ohio Democrats nominated Thomas Ewing for Governor.

The President has laid Fitz John Porter's case before Congress.

Senator Jones warmly endorses the Warner bill, thinking it perfect in every particular.

Gracie St. John Clemence forged a $10,000 check on Sharon; was detected; arrested, and broke jail.

An eastern editor got thirteen months hard labor in Albany jail for sending obscene literature through the mails.

W. F. White of Santa Cruz, is the California Workingmen's candidate for Governor—nominated on the first ballot.

Kearney has been re-elected President of the W. P. C.; J. T. Condon, Vice President; J. J. Flynn, Secretary and Thomas Donnelly, Treasurer.

They had a lively time in the W. P. C. yesterday. Kearney denounced the Nevada county delegates, who were pledged to vote to abolish the office of President and Vice President of the organization.

NORDENSKJOLD.

The New York Herald of May 28th has a full account of the Arctic discoveries of Nordenskjold's expedition, and the finding of the "northeast" passage, which has heretofore balked all others. It also publishes a map showing the route followed by the Vega (the vessel) through the Arctic seas, and also the precise point at which the Nordenskjold expedition passed the Winter. The story is further summarized by the New York Evening Post, and so nicely, that we copy what it says upon the subject:

The news from Professor Nordenskjold's Arctic exploring expedition, means that a northeastern passage from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean has been accomplished. This feat will place the Swedish explorer in the front rank of those daring men who have so many times braved the dangers and discomforts of the Arctic region, and so often with little to show for the practical results of their labors. Most of the voyagers whose attempts to reach the Pole or to seek a northern passage between the two great oceans to make up an exciting story of Arctic navigation have sailed from east to west and have made the waters north of America the scene of their explorations. Nordenskjold determined to solve the question whether or not there is a navigable water north of Asia, and he has proved that there is. It is too soon even to speculate about the practical value of his achievement. It may seem at first improbable that valuable vessels of commerce will ever undertake the passage to and from Europe by way of Behring Strait when Nordenskjold has accomplished it only after encountering great peril and after fear had been entertained that he and his ship were lost. But it must be remembered that he is the pioneer voyager over this route, and now that it is established that such a route exists clear of ice at certain seasons, future explorations and surveys may show that the voyage may be made with comparative safety. The Jeannette expedition, which will soon sail from California, will find much encouragement in Nordenskjold's success, and will probably add greatly to our knowledge of a region which is now least open to exploration.

"SKIPPED OUT"

The Eureka Sentinel says: We have the authority of Assemblyman Sharp of White Pine, for stating that A. V. Hoyt, late editor of the late Cherry Creek "Independent," has "skipped out"—left the country. According to the same authority the impression prevails in White Pine that he will not turn up to defend his libel suit with Senator Comins. The Sentinel is unwilling to believe that Mr. Hoyt "skipped" at the bidding of the monopolists, for Mr. Hoyt is a Reformer of the purest water.

Now the Virginia Chronicle will go into spasms. But the reflections likely to come from the libel case against the Chronicle itself, a few years ago, and the disappearance of the plaintiff the night before the case was to be called up before the U. S. Court, may prick its conscience a trifle.

The Herald says: The world has scarcely time to get over its surprise at the rapidity with which the Darien Congress concluded its labors, when it is startled by De Lesseps announcing the formation of the company and the opening of a subscription for 400,000,000 francs. It gives assurance that the Wise party is very much in earnest, and if the subscriptions roll in from all parts of the world, as Lesseps confidently expects, there is no good reason why the projected tide-level canal across the American Isthmus, from Colon to Panama, should not eventually be completed.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C. May 29, 1879.

There are signs that the Democratic revolution is going to pieces. The general discontent manifested everywhere at the persistent efforts of the Confederates to engraff their old State Rights dogma on the Government is having its effect. The expensive and wholly useless session; the effort to abolish the civil authority of the National Government entirely; the threat of

REDUCING THE ARMY

By the stoppage of recruiting and promotions; the disposition manifested to make lawful fraud and violence at elections; the enormous jobs proposed to restore to the South what it lost by the war; the scheme to prevent causes from being appealed to the Federal Courts; the hint of repudiation and dishonesty in finance;—all these have disgusted the country, and the country is making itself felt even to the average Democratic member of Congress. The vote of the House Ways and Means Committee in favor of adjourning on June 10th is but the expression of a desire to get through with a bad job, and this probably means the passage of the appropriation bills and a square back down of the hunkers.

THE SILVER BILL

Passed by the House I think has hastened this action of the Ways and Means Committee. It is a dangerous measure, and a great many who are in favor of free coinage of silver, and a double standard of values begin to see that this bill would set speculation wild and hurt the credit of the Government to an alarming extent. Many Democrats in the Senate, knowing that the Republicans are ready to take hold of this as a good campaign slogan if it shall be passed by the Senate also, are anxious for a speedy termination of the session in order to nip this bill. The country, however, will take notice that it is not the damage it would do to the country which they desire to avoid but the damage to the Democratic party. The steadiness with which Republicans stand out against all such Democratic iniquities is all that prevents a vast deal of mischief. The President yesterday issued a letter to the various Departments directing that they be closed on Friday in remembrance of those who fell in defense of the Nation. Decoration Day will be a general holiday here, and it will be observed more generally everywhere than heretofore.

THE THIRD YET

Message of President Hayes against the revolutionary schemes of the Confederates is to be read to them in the House to-day. It relates to the general appropriation bill and its riders abolishing the test oath for jurors, the election supervisors and U. S. Marshals. It is as radical as the most stalwart Republican could desire, and a dose such as the Democrats will not care to repeat many times.

FORT PILLOW CHALMERS

Is again in hot water. He and his Confederate chums took offense because the President said to those who were interested in the migration of the colored people from Mississippi and Louisiana that if the planters wouldn't let the steamboats take the refugees, it was perfectly right to send a steamboat down on purpose to transport them, and that it would be protected in doing so. Chalmers threatens to organize resistance to this relief movement, and has written the Governor of Mississippi to look out for it. Subscriptions are literally made for a boat to go down on the errand indicated, hundreds of negroes being encamped on the banks of the river waiting transportation, and it is possible Chalmers may have a chance to inaugurate his little rebellion. If he courts more infamy than already rests upon him, let him try his hand. It is a good time now to test the question whether a people who are so oppressed that they cannot live in the South haven't even the right to seek freedom in migration. LOGAN.

Count Teltour, the Italian millionaire, has reared from the Roman Government the mausoleum of Augustus, which he proposes to turn into a theatre. He binds himself to expend upon it 570,000 francs. An amphitheater for equestrian and other spectacles is to be built of wood in the Prati del Costello, over the Tiber, to which a new bridge leads.

This is the Count who married Ada Hungerford. It seems he is not "broke," as reported.

The Ohio Democratic State Convention met at Columbus, Ohio, Wednesday. In taking the chair General Steadman made a five minutes speech, the point of which was that the time had come when the Democratic party should insist on claiming a full share in the honors of the late war, for it was largely due to Democratic soldiers that the Union was saved. On the second ballot Thomas Ewing was nominated for Governor. Lieutenant Governor A. V. Rice; Treasurer, Anthony Howells; Auditor, Charles Remelin; Judge of the Supreme Court, W. J. Glimore; Attorney General, Isaiah Pillars.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The new World's Fair building is to be located on Manhattan Island, the site to be between and taking side parks. The draft of a bill to Congress has been adopted, providing for the holding of an international exhibition of arts, manufactures and products of the soil and mine, in the city of New York. The act provides for a commission of one delegate from each State and Territory, to be known as the United States International Commission to prepare and superintend the exhibition. No compensation is to be paid from the United States to be liable for any expense attending the exhibition. This commission is to fix the date. The bill also provides for a board of finance, who shall have power to open a book for subscriptions of a capital stock not exceeding $10,000,000, and it further provides for the organization of a board similar to those of the Centennial exhibition.

ELLA ZOYARA'S EARLY TRAINING.

The Clipper, speaking of Ella Zoyara's early life, says that when a child he was apprenticed to S. Q. Stokes, a well-known circus man and trainer of horses. During his childhood he was always attired in the garb of the female sex, and care was taken that his playmates should be mainly young girls of about his own age. This association enabled him to unconsciously imitate the graces and manners of the female sex so closely that the public and others not in the secret were completely deceived. In company with Mr. Stokes he visited and performed in all of the principal cities of Europe under the name of Ella Zoyara, looks, pluck and daring. On his return to this country he proved a very attractive card. Later, while performing with J. M. Nixon's circus, in Niblo's Gardens, New York City, during March and April, 1861, on the off-nights of the late Edwin Forrest, although he had then grown to man's estate, he created no little excitement by performing on the same night as Ella Zoyara, principal female rider, and as Omar Kingsley, male equestrian. He was so skillfully made up for the female character, and his general demeanor so effeminate and in such direct contrast to his appearance in his proper person, that even those of the spectators who were in the secret could hardly realize that the respective acts had been performed by the same individual, and many freely expressed the belief that they had been duped by the possible substitution of a twin brother of M'lie Zoyara.

A CLOSELY GUARDED WEIGHT.

The conscience-keeper of the nation's financial faith is deposited at the Mint, Broad and Chestnut streets, in the form of a troy pound weight, which is kept under duplicate locks and seals. There is a curious history connected with this weight. By it is determined the standard to which the accuracy of the gold and silver coins of the United States must attain. The Commissioners appointed by the President to test the coin and make the annual assays use this weight, and on these occasions it is taken from its carefully guarded seclusion, and it shows the accuracy or inaccuracy of the productions of the various mints of this country. This little cylinder is copied from a troy pound weight preserved in the Tower of London, and on this latter the coinage of Great Britain rests for reliability. This exact witness of financial integrity is carefully preserved and guarded from tampering hands. At the conclusion of the assay commission's labors the weight is entrusted to the care of a Judge of the United States District Court, the Collector of the Port and the Director of the Mint, locked up, solemnly sealed for another year, only to appear twelve months after and show which mint has been derelict in its work.

NEW BILL FOR COUNTING THE PRESIDENTIAL VOTE.

The House Committee on the state of the law respecting the ascertainment and declaration of the result of the election of President and Vice President, have agreed upon a bill, and authorized Representative Bicknell, the chairman, to report it to the House, with the approval of the committee. The title and provisions of the measure are as follows:

A bill to amend sundry provisions of chapter 1, title 3, of the Revised Statutes of the United States, relating to Presidential elections, and to provide for and regulate the counting of the votes for President and Vice President, and the decision of questions arising thereon.

First—Electors of President and Vice President are to be appointed in each State on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November.

Second—They vote by ballot on the second Monday in December next after their appointment.

Third—They make three certificates, one of them to be delivered to the President of the Senate, by special messenger, before the second Monday in January then next, another to be sent to be delivered forthwith, to the District Judge of the district in which they meet.

Fourth—If the certificate is not received by the President of the Senate on or before the second Monday in January, he must notify the Secretary of State forthwith, who shall send a special messenger to the District Judge for the certificate deposited with him.

Fifth—Controversies as to electoral votes in any State may be passed upon by its highest judicial tribunal, who shall send its decision, under seal, to the President of the Senate.

Sixth—Both Houses of Congress shall meet on the second Monday in February next after the meeting of the electors. Two tellers shall be appointed by the Senate, and two by the House.

Seventh—The President of the Senate shall open all the certificates, and all the votes shall be counted by the two Houses in the alphabetical order of the States as certified, unless rejected by both Houses. If there be a controversy in any State and a certified decision of it by its highest judicial tribunal, the electoral votes of that State shall be counted in accordance therewith, unless the decision be reversed by both Houses. If there be a controversy and no such judicial decision, the contested votes shall not be counted unless both Houses concur therein. If there be conflicting judicial decisions or conflicting certificates, the decision or certificate held by both Houses to be given by the proper authority shall be conclusive unless rejected by both Houses.

Eighth—The tellers make a list of the votes as counted and the President of the Senate announces the result, and said announcement, with a list of the votes, shall be entered on the journal of each House.

Ninth—On opening any certificate the President of the Senate calls for objections. Objections must be in writing, brief, without arguments, and signed by one Senator and one Representative. Objections are decided separately by each House, the Senate withdrawing. During the meeting of the two Houses the presiding officer shall have power to preserve order, and no debate shall be allowed.

Tenth—In the separate meeting to decide upon objections, each Senator or Representative may speak five minutes, and once only; and after two hours of such debate the main question shall be put.

Eleventh—The joint meeting shall not be dissolved until the count shall be completed. No recess shall be taken except upon a question arising under this act, in which case either House, acting separately, may take a recess of such House not beyond the next day; but if the count be not completed before the first meeting no further or other recess shall be taken by either House.

Twelfth—Sections 131, 135, 136, 140, 141, 142, 148, and 149 of the Revised Statutes are repealed.

A peculiarly aggravated case of this unhappy blending of colors occurred ten days ago in Pittsburgh, Annie Mason, one of the wealthiest, prettiest, and most accomplished young ladies of the place deliberately leaving her home and marrying George Jones, an ugly, ignorant negro, who is blacker than "a stack of black cats." Annie's father is U. S. storekeeper in Indiana County, and is wealthy. Her mother is ex-Chief Justice Agnew, of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, and the family is said to be one of the best in that part of the State. The girl is 20 years old, and bright and handsome. Being an only daughter she was "spoiled" by indulgence. On the evening of the 14th she quarreled with her parents, and the next morning she left the house, met the negro by appointment, went with to a town a mile distant, where they were married by a colored clergyman in the presence of two white witnesses. They then returned, hired a room in a small house with only three rooms in it, the other two being occupied by negroes. The girl sent home for her trunk, piano and some ornaments from her room, this being the first intimation her mother had of the marriage. The girl refuses to return home and says she is happy and contented with her black husband, in their squalid room. The mother is crazy with brain fever, brought on by the daughter's conduct. After this it would be almost cruel to say anything harsh about the half dozen girls of this city who have chosen blacks for husbands.

Florence, the actor, tells this story of the elder Booth: He was playing "Hamlet" in Virginia, one night, and had no skull. A little durkey volunteered to get one. When Booth was leaving the theatre he felt some one tugging at his coat-tail. He looked around and saw the little brunette. "What will you have sonny?" "Please sah, I wants daddy's skull, sah." "Daddy's skull?" "Yes, sah. Dat used ter be de old man's head-piece afore de newel kicked him, an' mammy'll lick me ter raga if I lose it."

TAKE IS CHEAP.—And so are fine clothing, boots, shoes, and gentlemen's and boys' fine furnishing goods, if you go to the right place to get them. This is a mighty important point, for some people who assert that they sell cheap do nothing of the kind. I do not boast when I say that I defy competition in prices in anything in my line. Besides this I have only one price. I have no preferred customers. Everybody is treated alike at my establishment. My stock is the largest and most complete ever offered in any part of this State. Everything I have is new. No old, musty and out-of-date goods can be found on my shelves. I receive daily by rail and express the latest and best goods, which are obtained at first hand and sold at prices below those now prevailing in New York and Chicago. Let the people come and judge of my prices and examine my stock before going into those humbugging, Cheap John shops, in which they drum into the ear of the customer that they sell at cost and even below cost. Anybody with common sense must know that they lie. No store-keeper sells goods for the fun of the thing. I make a profit on everything I sell, as every honest merchant does, and don't print foolish falsehoods in the vain hope of deceiving the public. One must make a profit to live. I particularly call attention to my full stock of fancy underwear, such as is kept nowhere else in Reno. This class of goods forms one of my specialties. Remember the place. Deal Gently with the Stomach. If it proves refractory, mild discipline is the thing to set in right. Not all the nauseous draughts and boluses ever invented can do half as much to remedy its disorders as a few Wineglassfuls—say, three a day—of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which will afford it speedy relief, and eventually banish every dyspeptic and bilious symptom. Sick headache, nervousness, sallowness of the complexion, fur upon the tongue, vertigo, and those many indescribable and disagreeable sensations caused by indigestion, are too often perpetuated by injurious dosing. An immediate abandonment of such random and ill advised experiments should be the first step in the direction of a cure; the next step the use of this standard tonic alternative, which has received the highest medical sanction and won unprecedented popularity.

INSURANCE.—We desire to say to our insurance patrons and owners of property generally that we have secured the services of Mr. T. B. Camp, a professional insurance man who has had several years practical experience in the business and is thoroughly posted in all its details. He will give his entire time and attention to the business of insurance, thus securing care and skill in the writing of policies, so as to properly cover the risks, which is of great importance, as many sufferers by the late fire may recall, as it might have saved them hundreds of dollars in the adjustment of a loss. We shall issue policies and adjust losses at our office.

Chronic and Special Diseases.

YOUNG MEN

WHO MAY BE SUFFERING FROM THE effects of youthful follies or indiscretion will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with frequent emission of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits aropy sediment will often be found and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milky hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito urinary organs.

Office Hours—10 to 4 and 6 to 8, Sunday from 10 to 11 A. M. Consultation free. Thorough examination and advice, $5
